Manly smooth skin

L'Oreal Paris recently entered the rapidly crowding field of male skin care. Their Men's Expert collection is in stores, but the most buzz surrounds its Hydra-Energetic SPF 15 Anti-Stress and Fatigue All-in-One moisturizer. It has all the properties of a good moisturizer, including vitamin C, but also recognizes that most men aren't going to fuss with lots of little jars, so L'Oreal has included anti-aging and sun-protection agents as well. Available for $10.49 at mass-merchandise retailers such as Wal-Mart and Target.

* Olay Definity Deep Penetrating Foaming Moisturizer

($26.99 at mass-merchandisers such as Target and Walgreens)

"As a regular user of Oil of Olay daily moisturizer, I was interested in its claim to "reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles" and "diminish the appearance of discolorations." I did like the product for its moisturizing capability and it felt very good on my skin, but I did not see a dramatic difference in how my skin looked without makeup. Once you get past the experience of putting foaming "mousse" on your face, it makes a great base for a foundation, and I think it made for more flawless coverage. I will buy it again."

- Christine Vidmar, 41, Euclid

"I was excited to try out this one, and I fell in love with it! It felt weightless on my face, and it never felt heavy or greasy. I would definitely recommend it. It's quite different from all of the other facial lotions out there."

- Shawna McDonald, 34, Avon Lake

* Cargo Matte Beach Blush

"This blush and bronzer is amazing! It went on like silk on my skin and gave my cheeks a radiant glow. With the four hues of the product, I loved being able to blend them to get the desired shade I wanted for my skin tone. I applied the product in the morning, and it lasted throughout the day. I even used the darker hues as a bronzer to highlight my cheekbones. The versatility of this product is great, and I would definitely recommend it." $26 at Sephora stores at Beachwood Place and Crocker Park, Westlake, or www.sephora.com.

- Dresden Dorazewski, 17, Lakewood
* Avon's Crystal Aura Eau De Parfum Spray
"At first scent, this reminded me of a bouquet of spring flowers - crisp, clean, not too sweet. It was a little strong to start, but as the fragrance dried, the scent became more subtle, lasting most of the day. It's really very nice." $26 at www.avon.com.
